VETERANS COMING TO LOS ANGELES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many of the veterans who came to the Coast in special care will return home by the route by which they can secure the best accommodations. Many who came by way of Los Angeles in special trains have expressed an intention to go east by the northern route to see the country.

Nearly all State delegations in breaking up are securing individual train accommodations. Los Angeles will probably receive a big influx of veterans Sunday, as many are to take advantage of the reception prepared for them in Santa -Clara, and will continue on to Southern Califor. nia. Just how many will visit the southern metropolis it is impossible to say, as there have been no special arrangements made by any of the State delegations to visit the South as a body, and it will therefore be a matter of individual selection.

One big apecial train left this city at 6:30 o'clock tonight for Los Angeles, carrying a large party of New York veterans, but this will probably be the only delegation to go by special train.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Turkish Ambassador called at the Foreign Office today to make inquiries regarding the report that it was the intention of the powers to make a joint naval demonstration in Turkish waters and to enter a protest if anything of the kind was contemplated. The Foreign Office officials made it clear to him that Great Britain has taken no action of this character, and it appears as if Italy will also refrain from carrying out har decision to dispatch warships to Turkey, as the Italian embassy says no report of their departure has yet been received. This is taken by the embassy to indicate that there have been developments making the step inadvisable or unnecessary at the present moment, perhaps due to the Turkish acceptance of the Russian demands, which was confirmed at the Turkish embassy.

Then the vessels will appear in this harbor and commence operations. In the meantime, prompted by the imaginary recelpt this forenoon of news of the advance of the henemy's ships, the army of defense will assemble and prepare itself for the protection of the harbor and the city. The local batteries, being the first naturally to hear the news of the threatening danger, responded promptly, and by noon all the companies had gone into camp and taken up active duties.

The First and Second regiments, which constitute the entire. State millitia, started as soon as notified for Portland, and they were in camp in good season. Before Sunday night additional forces from Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Delaware will be ready to assist in preventing the operations of the enemy from being successful.

Word has been received that the party that stated out from Salt Lake some weeks ago is now in Nevada, heading to meet the other party coming east. It is stated that the preliminary survey will be completed within the next sixty days. The main line, it is said, will go around the south end of the lake, vis Garfield. In addition, a branch road to tap Deep Creek district, if not the main line itself, is being figured on.

From a reliable source it is learned that orders have gone forth from headquarters to rush things all along the line. Several draughtsmen have been approached with the object in view of securing their services for the line.

Capl. B. H. Coney of Topeka, Kan, introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that we congratulate that spiendid soldier, exemplary commander and patriotic citizen, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, upon his attainment of a distinguished and honorable retirement, after a matchiess record as a soldier of over forty-two years' service, without just criticism of his official conduct, which began as a lleutenant in the Twenty-second Massachusetts Infantry, progressing by the brightest grade of heroic patriotism from Manassas to Appomatox, during the greatest of all civil wars from 1881 to 1865, and illuminating this record by his great military achievements as an Indian fighter, and again, as a gallant and organizer."

A committee of five was appointed to provide for the perpetuation of Memorial Day in the South, and a committee of three will revise the blue book.

James Coey was restored to the henor of Past Department Commander of California.

The Committee on Resolutions stated that it was deemed unwise to offer several resolutions which had been presented to it, as their discussion might provoke extended controversy.

Hatfield House, the family seat, where the former Premier lies dying, is a gloomy structure, although one of the most magnificent remaining specimens of Ellabethan architecture. It is situated in a magnificent park, which skirts the quaint town of which the Marquis of Salisbury is practically the owner. He was always regarded there as the type of England's greatest nobles, and he retained the love and respect of all his tenants and neighbors, which he reciprocated in many ways, especially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the two specially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecially by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfield Park completely for the use of the waspecial by opening Hatfi

NEWPORT (Or.) Aug. 21.—William Riemann of Portland was drowned at it o'clock this morning while surf bathing on the ocean beach at Nye Creek, in full view of a thousand spectators. The surf was light, and the enjoyment of riding over the swells tempted the young man to winture out toe far from shore. He soons became exhausted and cried for help, which was at once responded to by two other bathers. They succeeded in reaching Riemann and made a desperate effort to reach the shore, but the current seemed to set of shore and they could make little progress. They finally became exhausted from their exertions and were compelled to give up their task to save their own lives.

In the meantime others rushed to the bath-house for life preservers and lines several pieces of ropes being found and fastened together. It was not long the bathers, joined hands and formed a human lifeline extending into the surf, but even this proved about thirty feet too short to reach the doomed man. The drowning was witnessed by the mother and sister of the unfortunate young man.

ing and the Looloos had to-take their beating.

It was a fine game and none of the fans could have any kick about it, for the error was by Huriburt in making a low throw to second base. Schwartz also migjudged Wheeler's bounder in the sixth. It was slow play on account of the heat but every fielder played the game, as if his life depended on the result. Toman, who had four outs and seven assists on Thursday, was there yesterday with four outs and three assists. Schwarts had seven chances, Wheeler six and Francks and Corbett four each. All of these were taken with ease and when Huriburt's low throw was the only mistake in the game, the fans had plenty of excitement to last them through.

CHALLENGER BACKED DOWN.

An automobile race that didn't turn out to be a race after all, was the topic of discussion among a number of the owners yesterday, and the only reason was that the challenger fell down when it came to putting up the money that was supposed to be bet on the event. Yesterday morning, N. T. Fairbanks of this city, who is the proud owner of an Orient buckboard, walked into the Oldsmobile agency on West Sixth street and flashed a handful of greenbacks with the statement that he would bet any part of $5000 that his Orient could beat any oldsmobile in a-five-mile race. Nothing much was said at that time, but later in the day, Leon Shettler, son of the local agent of the Oldsmobile, got a certified check for $1000, and drew up an agreement for a race. It was proposed in the agreement that shettler and Fairbanks should race their respective machines five miles at Agricultural Park for $1000 aide on any day during the next month, the contest to be under the direction of the officers of the Los Angeles Automobile Club, which was to receive one-fourth of the stakes.

This check and agreement was taken of Mr. Fairbanks yesterday afternoon, and he very frankly backed out of the could not beat the Oldsmobile with his Orient, having looked up the race records of both machines. Thus local enthusiasts on the subject of auto racing were cheated out of a race that promised to be exciting.

DOYAL HUNTING ON SULPHUR MOUNTAIN.

LOS ANGELES CAMPERS GET BIG BUCK AND BALD EAGLE.

Large and Beautiful Stag Secured by Chester Carden After Being Long Sought-Whist Champion Narrowly Escapes Sliding to His Death.

Advices to The Times from Sulphur Mountain Springs, Ventura county, where quite a number of Los Angeles sportsmen have been spending the open season, give news of royal hunting. A party of hunters including Chester Carden and Roy Lithmore went from Sulphur Springs Camp Wednesday evening in search of deer. They joined the men at Crane Camp, which is lo-cated about three miles northeast of Last Chance Cañon, where several deer several weeks seen tracks, and had caught glimpses of a huge buck, which by constant description came to assume monstrous proportions. The Sulphur Springs Camp men determined to capture this fabulous creature, and yesterday Carden brought him into camp.

phur Springs Camp men determined to capture this fabulous creature, and yesterday Carden brought him into camp.

The stag was not only unusually large, but had a remarkably beautiful head, and great wide-spreading antiers. These he had not shed last year, as they were of polished horn and not "in the velvet," as they should be at this season. Their six prongs indicate the handsome animal was at least a half-dozen years old, but old woodsmen claim for him a greater age. The men had some difficulty in packing the buck three miles across unbroken country into camp. Carden shot the stag about 9 o'clock a.m., after an all-night's still hunt. The animal had just drank his fill in the clear stream rippling down from the Upper Sespe and was preparing to lie down and rest when he received his death wound from the ambush of thicket.

Several of the hunters remained at Crane's Camp to capture a black bear which has been seen prowling about camp for the last few days.

Frank L. Loftus of Los Angeles, the champlon whist player of the Pacific Coast, with his wife and daughters, is a guest it the camp, and has distinguished himself as asmountaineer. Recently, in company of H. R. Hertel of Pasadena, he scaled an almost inaccessible peak above Santa Paula Falls. When descending Loftus made a false step and sild for 200 feet down a gravel chute. At its foot lay a pool of icy, green water, forty feet deep. Loftus saved his life by sticking his staff into a crevice and arresting his flight at the brink of the well. Loftus cannot swim a stroke, and in commemoration of his narrow escape the chute has been rechristende "Loftus Silde."

Adolf Maas of Los Angeles, one of the most indefatigable sportsmen at sulphur Springs Camp, returned home Wednesday after having satisfied his ambition by killing a fine eagle. There were reports of a great bald eagle hovering over Inspiration Foint of late and Maas has been stalking Sulphur Mountain hoping for a shot. The big bird escaped, but a smaller specimen was secured and is now in the hands of Perhaps, when some of the European put the screws on her, she may be she need not expect any great amount of sympathy from this country should country, in many respects, this Califoreign gunboats appear off Panama to collect debts that are overdue. All that the United States might be expected to do, under such circumelances, would be, as in the case of the Venezuela difficulty, to make it plain to the European powers that, the transfer from station to street car;

after collecting their little bills, they must "get up and get," and not attempt any permanent lodgment on American soil.

A special dispatch from Washington, recently published in The Times, stated that "the defeat of this treaty is regarded here, after mature deliboration, as a serious and possibly is regarded here, after mature deliboration, as a serious and possibly fatal blow to any Isthmian Canal."

The factory is now running day and night and consumes about 500 tons of beets per day. A large force of Japanese are in the fields harvesting the crop and doing the topping. GOOD SAMARITAN ROBBED.

GOOD SAMARITAN ROBBED.

Joe Morales, a notorious character, was arrested in Santa Ynes on a charge of highway robbery and taken to the County Jail. Morales made the acquaintance of a man named Brown, and pretending to be too drunk to find his way to his lodging-house, requested Brown to show him the way. As Brown was leading the pretending drunk through a dark side street, Morales turned on Brown and struck him on the head, knocking him senseless. The robber then took all his victim's money and fewelry and fied to Santa Ynes, where he was located by the Sheriff.

MOUNTAIN ROAD COLLISION.

J. T. Johnson and Frank Mandeville, a mountainer of this county, had a miraculous escape on the mountain road going from San Marcos pass to the south. As their team was passing along a narrow piece of road overhanging a steep precipice, a runaway team was seen approaching. Being unable to turn in the road or escape, the men calmly awaited the collision. The runaway team took the inside track, and without much injury were caught between the wagon and hilliside. The victous horses were finally extricated.

It seems, however, that threat of a boycott in some form came to the Wholesalers' Association from some source. Perhaps it was implied in the message above quoted, "Pass the word along." What was the word to be passed along?
At any rate, after long and arduous sessions the Wholesalers' Association decided that it would not yield to any threats of a boycott. If there have been none, and are to be none, every-body should be happy. But what was all the excitement about? What meant all the meetings and correspondence? What word was to be passed along? "That is what we want to know," say the wholesalers.

Here's proof-

H. B. Miller of 5°34 West Sixth Street, dealer in sewing machines, says: "I had attacks of b. ck tobe and an annoying irregularity of the kidney secretions. I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Doan's drug store at Second and Spring streets. I noticed an improvement from taking this one box, and I followed it up with two more. They gave me prompt and effective relief from backache and regul ted the action of the kidneys. If the treatment had not brought me the results promised, nothing could induce me to recommend the remedy."

ser told that it is "An interpretation of spiritual law in its relation to mundane phenomena, and to the ruling incentives and moral duties of man, together with an allegory dealing with cosmic evolution and certain social and religious problema." Of course nothing could be plainer, especially the last part of this account. It is connected with morality and religion. It is divided into two parts, one is a doctrinal argument, at least it is so entitled, but we failed to see much in the way of argument, and only a wast amount of words by way of assertion and the other is the altegory referred to.

As to the doctrinal argument, therehas been conveniently placed before the actual discussion, or mass of assertion, to speak more accurately, a convenient syllabus from which we will quote a few sentences that may throw light upon the character of the book, although they might not otherwise be very illuminating. Infinite principles, as attributes of Delty, radiate forth from a supermundane source, and, coming in contact with materiality, create the manifestations of the natural world. Thus, detached from the souls of human kind—are stored to their divine source, and, coming in contact with materiality; create the manifestations of the natural world. Thus, detached from the souls of human kind—are stored to their divine sure. The significant is pure Gnosticism, and it is interesting to see that ancient, sure the souls of human kind—are stored to their divine sure the souls of human kind—are stored to their divine sure the sure of creating in see that ancient, sure the sure of the properties. at that time thought that the Shamrock was out hunting for wind. The wind came from all directions. Sometimes it came from the southward and then from the west, and then from the north.

"I had many distinguished guests aboard. They came from all points of the globe. There were scarcely a dozen Britons aboard. There were Senators and Congressmen and guests from the Pacific Coast. Every one who was on the Erin yesterday has promised to be with me tomorrow.
They all wished me good luck, and why shouldn't my heart go cut to the Americans? From all over the country I received telegrams with the best of wishes. They send me mascots by the core. Why, a ship wouldn't hold them all.

"This is the best mascot of all." Sir Thomas continued, as a pet Irish terrier came up and rubbed against his trousers. "Pat watched the race yesterday. When the Shamrock led he just looked on, and when the Reliance began to close up the gap soon after the start he barked so vigorously that I had to send him below to keep him from disturbing the guests. He wanted to urge Capt. Wringe on."

Turning again to where the Reliance
was sailing around Sandy Hook Bay, Sir Thomas continued: "I think that the Reliance gets the wind out of the sky, chills, as we call it on the other side, just as the Shamrock does. I mean that the new boat can get more air aloft than the old challenger. In wook's Grew Would won in 2:18. Albert, Locenda and severather exceeded the rules when he sent these necessary articles of the yacht's equipment ashors.

It is said that Sir Thomas has been notified that the challenger must sail today with her anchor and cable on board, and that she must be remeasured Monday in the same trim as she sails tomorrow's race. This means that the Shamrock would be disqualified it she won temorrow's race and it was found that her water line exceeds ninety feet Monday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton, his captains and the crews of his fleet at Sandy Hook were by no

Thomas was as optimistic as usual, and cheerfully explifined that yesterday's race was not conclusive, while Capt. Wringe of the Shamrock III was as good-natured and hopeful as ever. All appeared to believe that there would be a different story to tell if the next race were sailed in a fais racing wind. It was pointed out by an officer of the Erin today that the Shamrock III had never been exceedingly good in driving. The only race in which the Shamrock I ever beat her was sailed in little hetter than a caim and in many cases
under similar conditions the Shamrock

This is the best mascot of all." Sir Thomas continued, as a pet Irish terrier came up and rubbed against his trousers. "Pat watched the race yesterday. When the Shamrock led he just looked on, and when the Reliance began to close up the gap soon after the start he barked so vigorously that I had to send him below to keep him from disturbing the guests. He wanted to urge Capt. Wrings on."

Turning again to where the Reliance was sailling around Sandy Hook Bay, Sir Thomas continued: "I think that the Reliance gets the wind out of the sky, chills, as we call it on the other side, just as the Shamrock does. I mean that the new boat can get more air aloft than the old challenger. In light weather the Reliance may get more chills above than the Shamrock will be when we have a gale, a good beat to windward and a run or a broad reach home."

ASTORIA REGATTA CLOSES.

GLOSS WINS CHAMPIONSHIP. (BY THE ASSCIATED PRESS—PM.)
ASTORIA (Or.) Aug. 21.—This season's regatta, regarded as the most successful event ever held here, closed today with hardly any diminution in the attendance of the past three days. The senior single-shell championship race was decided in favor of Gloss of Portland, over De Brisay of Victoria, B. C., and Patton of Portland. At the turning stake, De Brisay ran into some driftwood and smashed his shell, leaving Gloss to finish with Patton. In the second single race, Patton rowed over the course alone, the race being won by default.
Gloss was the only man to make entry for the skiff race, accidents to other; boats preventing their being entered.

But they were nothing compared with the crush of old and new friends that sathered around the bis fellow, as he held the usual reception at Polaski's that features his stays in the home town. They were all there-from old-time friends that watched the husky lad grow into a giant of a man, to dit in the interpressible members of the "Buttinski" brigade whose highest ambition is to be seen in the company of "De champ" and enrolled among the unthinking, and unknowing, as "Jeff's friends." There was one in Khali last night—he was so picturesque a pest that Jeff and de gang finally warmed up to him a little and conducted him to Polaski's door by the arm instead of by the customary boot injection.

"Where's Tom Savage?" was one of Jeff's first remarks. "I want to see the siff. He was so badly cut that he is now under the care of a surgeon at the Receiving Hospital. The trouble occurred yesterday morning shortly after 7 o'clock at the Moore residence, No. 704 Ceres avenue. That murder was not committed, was not the fault of Moore's assailants, for they made a ferocious assailt upon him. The woman is in jail, but her paramour male his escape, and has not been captured. According to the story Moore told the police, he left his home before 7 o'clock to go to work. Half an hour later he returned, having forgotten something, and found that Perkins, who was a boarder at his house, had taken his place in bed. Then the flight started. Moore seized a club and attacked Perkins, but the wife took Perkins's part, and, securing an ax, drove her husband from the room. He took refuge in another part of the house, but the woman attacked the door with her weapon, and seeing that she would soon-force an entrance, he left the room by another way, intending to get out of the house. He encountered Perkins again, and the latter began stabbing him with a dirk. He struck several times with the weapon, cutting holes in Moore's scalp and both shoulders, and puncturing his back and right forearm. The wounds, however, are not dangerous. Moore then ran one way and Perkins another, leaving the woman in sole possession of the place.

They were told to go about their business, instead of doing so they engaged in a quarrel with Galavis, and when he tried to eject them they attacked him. It is said that Joe Redono, who is a deputy constable, used a policeman's club on Galavis, but Charles Redono used only his fists. The woman tried to separate the combatants and was struck several times. After Galavis had been rendered unconscious the Redono brothers departed.

Galavis recovered consciousness about 10 o'clock and corroborated the statements made by the woman.

Are You at Sea What to wear since leaving the oraside? It certainly won't do for ducks, away from water.

It's a measily shame, too; there you've a good coat, just the thing for inte summer and early fall—but 20 trousers to go with it.

Ah! Now we have It!
